PCWD and O.N.E Making a Difference at Spaulding

Vite Lapommeray,
Environmental Services

Vite Lapommeray, an Environmental Services Aide at Spaulding recently completed a Financial Literacy Workshop, which was offered to Spaulding employees through Partners in Career and Workforce Development (PCWD) and the Organization for a New Equality (O.N.E.). Vite found the workshop extremely informative, educational and practical. He has since put together his own budget and is tracking where he spends his money. “When I realized how much I was spending on Chinese food and lottery tickets, I decided to bring my lunch more often and buy fewer lottery tickets. Now I can see the savings,” says Lapommeray.

The workshop was taught by Millicent Johnson from O.N.E. in four 90 minute sessions during the work day.

Managers who are interested in offering this series of workshops to their department should contact Glen McKenney in Human Resources at 617-573-2401 or gmckenney@partners.org. Other Partners affiliates have offered these or are planning to do so in the near future.
