Frequently Asked Questions Regarding Medical Resident FICA Tax Refunds

What does the IRS Announcement mean to me?

On March 2, 2010, the IRS announced that it had made an administrative determination to accept the position that medical residents are excepted from FICA taxes based on the student exception for tax periods ending before April 1, 2005, when new IRS regulations went into effect. This announcement means that the IRS will provide a refund of the FICA taxes for individual medical residents and institutions that timely filed refund claims for tax periods ending before April 1, 2005.

The IRS has contacted Partners HealthCare System (including Brigham and Women's Hospital and Massachusetts General Hospital) regarding the FICA tax refund claims we filed for tax periods ending before April 1, 2005. The IRS has acknowledged Partners HealthCare System's ability to claim a refund for 1997 through 2004 and the first quarter of 2005. Partners HealthCare System also believes that the IRS may allow a refund claim for 1995 and 1996.

Partners HealthCare System is in the process of responding to an IRS letter that outlines the procedures required to be completed prior to obtaining any refund. Partners HealthCare System is in the process of preparing the information necessary to respond to this letter in a timely manner and will be posting updates periodically on this webpage regarding the FICA tax refund process. Whether or not Partners HealthCare System actually obtains a refund from the IRS depends upon whether the claim is approved by the IRS. Such approval is contingent upon a number of factors, and it is possible that the claim, or certain years of the claim, may not be approved by the IRS. The IRS Announcement appears on the IRS website at: http://www.irs.gov/charities/article/0,,id=219548,00.html

Am I eligible for a refund if I trained at a Partners affiliate (other than Partners HealthCare, Brigham and Women’s Hospital, and Massachusetts General Physicians Organization) and received a paycheck from that other affiliate?

It is not yet clear whether the IRS will allow refunds for former interns, residents and fellows employed by other Partners affiliates such as Faulkner Hospital, McLean Hospital, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, North Shore Medical Center and Spaulding Rehabilitation Hospital. If you were an intern, resident or fellow at any of these Partners affiliates, please fill out a consent form provided at www.partners.org/fica and submit it as directed. Submitting a form does not mean you will receive a refund, but is required in order for Partners HealthCare System to claim the refund on your behalf.

As an intern, resident or fellow, am I eligible for a FICA tax refund pursuant to the claims filed by Partners HealthCare System?

Interns, residents and fellows employed by Partners HealthCare System should be eligible for a FICA tax refund pursuant to certain FICA tax refund claims Partners HealthCare System timely filed for periods prior to April 1, 2005. (These periods include 1997 through 2004, and the first quarter of 2005. They may also include 1995 and 1996, depending upon whether the IRS allows Partners HealthCare System's refund claims for those periods.) To obtain your share of FICA tax, you must consent to allow Partners HealthCare System to obtain your share of refundable FICA taxes on your behalf. Partners HealthCare System anticipates contacting residents by mail in order to obtain such consents and has posted a standard consent form on this webpage. You do not have to wait to be contacted by mail. If you believe you are eligible for a refund and wish to consent to allowing Partners HealthCare System to pursue a claim to obtain your share of refundable FICA taxes on your behalf, simply fill out the consent form at www.partners.org/fica and submit it as directed. Submitting a form does not mean you will receive a refund, but is required in order for Partners HealthCare System to claim the refund on your behalf.

- As an intern, resident or fellow, for what time periods am I entitled to a FICA tax refund under the claims filed by Partners HealthCare System?

  Potential eligibility to be covered under refund claims filed by Partners HealthCare System is limited to those individuals who were interns, residents or fellows during the period from January 1, 1995 through March 31, 2005 that the IRS allows Partners HealthCare System to claim a refund. Specifically, these periods include 1997 through 2004 and the first quarter of 2005. They may also include 1995 and 1996, depending upon whether the IRS allows Partners HealthCare System’s refund claims for those periods.

- Is there a cost to me for consenting to having Partners HealthCare System obtain my share of FICA taxes paid with respect to my residency?

  If you consent to have Partners HealthCare System obtain your refundable share of FICA taxes on your behalf, there is no cost to you.

- Can I still apply for a FICA tax refund for tax periods prior to April 1, 2005?

  Unless you previously timely filed an individual FICA tax refund claim on your own, the statute of limitations has expired for FICA tax refunds for tax periods prior to April 1, 2005. However, as discussed above, with your consent, the applicable refund procedures allow Partners HealthCare System to obtain your share of refundable FICA taxes pursuant to the timely filed refund claims filed by Partners HealthCare System for periods prior to April 1, 2005. Partners HealthCare System anticipates contacting residents by mail in order to obtain such consents and posting a standard consent form on this webpage. You do not have to wait to be contacted by mail. If you believe you are eligible for a refund and wish to consent to allowing Partners HealthCare System to pursue a claim to obtain your share of refundable FICA taxes on your behalf, simply fill out the consent form at www.partners.org/fica and submit it as directed. Submitting a form does not mean you will receive a refund, but is required in order for Partners HealthCare System to claim the refund on your behalf.

You should consult your tax professional if you have further questions regarding this issue.
Frequently Asked Questions Regarding Medical Resident FICA Tax Refunds

What was the basis for these medical resident FICA tax refund claims?

The medical resident FICA tax refund claims stem from a decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit in 1998 in State of Minnesota v. Apfel which held that stipends paid to University of Minnesota medical residents in 1995-96 were not subject to FICA tax as a result of the student FICA exception. Since the decision of the Eighth Circuit in 1998, other U.S. Courts of Appeals have rendered decisions regarding medical residents' eligibility for the student FICA exception and all have held that medical residents are or could be eligible for the student FICA exception. Based on this extensive litigation, which has generally been decided in the favor of institutions employing medical residents, the IRS finally conceded in its Announcement (IR 2010-25) on March 2, 2010 that it would accept the position that medical residents qualified for the student FICA exception for periods prior to April 1, 2005.

Will FICA taxes be withheld from my paycheck going forward?

Yes. The IRS has not accepted the position that medical residents are excepted from FICA taxes based on the student exception for tax periods ending after April 1, 2005.

In response to the litigation regarding the eligibility of medical residents to qualify for the student FICA exception, the IRS amended its regulations in 2004 (effective April 1, 2005) so that medical residents could not qualify for the student FICA exception - based on the application of the "full-time employee" limitation. On June 12, 2009, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, in Mayo Foundation for Medical Education and Research v. United States, upheld the "full-time employee" limitation in the final amended regulations effective April 1, 2005 under the student FICA exception. Based on the application of the "full-time employee limitation," medical residents are generally unable to qualify for the student FICA exception. This issue is still being litigated. Most recently, on June 1, 2010, the U.S. Supreme Court decided that it would review the issue of whether the "full-time employee" limitation is valid.

Accordingly, FICA taxes will continue to be withheld from any residency, internship and/or fellowship earnings. Further questions about FICA withholding on future earnings should be directed to the administrator of your residency, internship and/or fellowship program.

Who should I contact with any questions?

If you have any questions, you may email partnersficarefund@us.pwc.com. Include your name, telephone number, and years of residency or fellowship in your email message. Your inquiry will be answered by email as soon as possible. We will also update information on the Partners HealthCare System Graduate Medical Education webpage, including these frequently asked questions, with any additional information as the refund claim process progresses.
Frequently Asked Questions Regarding Medical Resident FICA Tax Refunds

- What should I do if I move while the refund process is still ongoing?

  It is anticipated that the refund process will take at least several months. As a result, if your mailing address changes, please provide any new mailing address information to partnersficarefund@us.pwc.com.

- Once the IRS provides the FICA tax refund, when can I expect to receive my share of any refund?

  Once the claims process is completed, the IRS will send the aggregate refund to Partners HealthCare System. The amount refunded to Partners HealthCare System will only include the medical resident share of FICA taxes for those residents who consented to Partners HealthCare System's refund claim. Although we do not know how long it will take for the IRS to administer the refund claim, once Partners HealthCare System's claim is allowed, Partners HealthCare System will send those residents who consented to Partners HealthCare System's refund claim a check for their share of the FICA tax refund in a timely manner.

- If I do receive a FICA tax refund, do I need to pay taxes on it?

  Should you receive a FICA tax refund, the refund is not subject to federal income tax. However, the IRS intends to pay interest on your share of the FICA tax that is refunded. The interest paid by the IRS on your share of the FICA tax refund is subject to tax in the year it is received. You will be provided a Form 1099-INT if $600 or more in interest is paid in the calendar year. You should contact your tax professional for more information on this subject and to discuss your specific tax situation.

- If I do receive a FICA tax refund, how does this affect my eligibility for and calculation of social security benefits?

  Your eligibility for and calculation of social security benefits (either current or future) may be affected in the event of a refund, depending on your personal circumstances. If you consent to the refund claim, you will be issued a Form W-2c which will reflect a reduction in your earnings for social security benefits purposes. Whether social security benefits that you are receiving currently or in the future are impacted by a reduction of wage credits as a result of the refund will depend on your particular facts and circumstances. You should contact your local Social Security Administration office with any questions regarding your particular situation.
